Kevin,

This letter is to thank you for the work you did with Amy Kahler. When Amy found me on the internet, she was scared and did not know who to trust. She was shopping for mortgage brokers as well as for a real estate agent. You helped me educate her about the process and give her information she needed to make a good decision that was right for her. You took time to listen to what she wanted, and gave her the benefit of your experience, showing her many properties, and guiding her along the way.

I was most impressed with your professionalism when, after working with her for many hours, she decided to wait a few months to buy. Another agent might have tried to pressure her into buying right now, especially since with rising prices and interest rates, it would seem to make sense. But you were not only a consummate professional, but a gentleman. You listened to her feelings and her reasons, and let her know that you are here to help when she is ready.

Thanks for a great job. I highly recommend your service and will definitely refer my clients in the future! I work with many real estate agents, and am very picky about the ones I choose to work with.

Sincerely,

May Smith
